Caring through Sharing

It's likely that

It's likely that if you are reading this newsletter you are a Christian, and it's likely that being a Christian you attend your local church. It's likely that in that church there are people who are passionate about Jesus and about sharing the good news of Jesus with others. It's likely that some of these passionate people are receiving training in order to better serve that vision, and it's likely that there are people in your church who support them financially while they are studying. If that is the case they need to know about the Annabel Charitable Foundation and the possibility of applying for a scholarship and the tax deductible benefits to supporters.

Recent Scholarship Awardees

In January 2011 we have awarded two scholarships to students studying at Moore Theological College:-

Danny Ford

Danny is currently in 2nd year at Moore College studying full time with an aim to minister to people who have no church experience and who for many reasons may not respond to the traditional ministry models of surrounding churches. If you would like to see what Danny is doing click here to be directed to his website. Danny is married to Helena and has two children, Micah 4 and Isabelle 2. If you would like to support Danny as he studies we would love to hear from you.

Adam Hotson

Adam is married to Anita and they have two children, Nicholas 4 and Noah 1. Adam is in 2nd year of a Bachelor of Divinity at Moore College and it is his hope that he will be challenged and transformed into the likeness of his God and Saviour Jesus Christ as he continues his studies. Receiving financial support as he studies helps in his call to support and look after his family and allows him to focus more on his studies. If you would like to support Adam as he studies we would love to hear from you.
